Dear Sir:

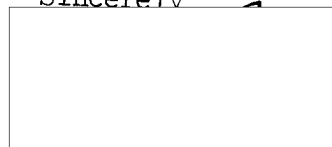

This letter is being written to inform you that our company, Internal Security Service, is not connected with the company known as "Internal Security Agency" that placed the ad in the Phoenix telephone directory (copies attached).

As you can see by the copy of the ad, the insignia of Internal Security Agency bears a strong resemblance to the insignia belonging to the CIA. The only difference being a lightening bolt replacing the starburst and a slight change in the shape of the shield. In the event this was a deliberate attempt to deceive the public, we wish to make it clear that our company is not involved.

We would appreciate your help in stopping the publication of this ad in the future.

The legal action we have taken against Internal Security Agency is explained in the enclosed copy of our lawsuit.

Sincerely,

General Manager

283-374 STAT
CIVIL COMPLAINT

Plaintiff alleges that this Court has jurisdiction over this matter.

I am suing the Defendant because: Whereas, in 1970 Internal Security Service, an Oklahoma Corporation, filed as a foreign corporation and was issued a license to do business in the state of Arizona. Internal Security Service Corporation has been doing business actively promoting the name "Internal Security" in the State of Arizona for the past twelve years. Many thousands of dollars has been spent to promote the name in Arizona. Internal Security is well known by most of the large retail firms in the State of Arizona, and we are referred to by most of the large companies as "Internal Security"

The name "Internal Security Service" is a registered trademark and was granted by the U. S. Department of Commerce Patent Office, Washington, D. C., filing date 2 October 1972, Class 101, Serial No. 437 371.

Whereas, in 1982 the defendant placed an ad in the telephone directory advertising the name "Internal Security Agency". It is our contention that this was a deliberate malicious deception to obtain business that would have rightfully belonged to the plaintiff.

The plaintiff then made a request to the defendant that the defendant stop using the name "Internal Security". The defendant ignored this request and again placed a large ad in the yellow pages of the telephone directory for the year of 1983 using the name of "Internal Security Agency".

The plaintiff is unable to determine the extent of the damage caused by the defendant but contends that the damage is extensive.

THEREFORE, Plaintiff asks for Judgment against Defendant in the sum of $ 2,499.00, with interest (at the legal rate from date of Judgment) until paid, plus all costs of this suit.

Plaintiff also asks for relief consisting of: A restraining order from the court to stop the defendant from using the name "Internal Security".
